

37th Annual March of Dimes Perinatal Conference

“Mom, Baby and You”

March 1 & 2, 2012

ABSTRACT/POSTER INFORMATION SHEET

When preparing your abstract/poster please remember:

- ◆ To provide an environment and content to facilitate discussion and provide strategies which promote collaborative practices in perinatal and community healthcare.
- ◆ To foster partnerships with community organizations that address racial disparities, public health issues, and lactation education.
- ◆ To promote professional networking and idea sharing in order to enhance the participants own practice and professional growth.
- ◆ To provide innovative tools and techniques that can ignite programs and educational activities which encourage learning and quality practice.

This program has been designed to appeal to a diverse cross section of multiple disciplines providing services and care for mothers, babies, and families. The intended audience will include:

- ◆ Nurses / Nurse Educators
- ◆ Advance Practice Nurses
- ◆ Public Health Professionals
- ◆ Case Managers
- ◆ Obstetricians
- ◆ Pediatricians
- ◆ Neonatologists
- ◆ Social Workers
- ◆ Other Perinatal Healthcare Disciplines

Abstracts may report on any aspect of perinatal education, including:

- ◆ Review of proven techniques for implementation and evaluation of educational programs
- ◆ Examination of communication technology as an effective tool for clinical practice
- ◆ Consideration of legal and ethical challenges and recommendations for equation and practice
- ◆ Exploration of the implementation process for innovative, collaborative and community practice initiatives

After acceptance of abstract, information will be sent regarding presentation expectations.